

STUDI KASUS 5

Automata Inc. produces specially vehicles by contract. The company operates several departments, each of builds a praticular vehicle, such as limousine, a truck, a van or an RV.

When a new vehicle is built, the department places an order with purchasing department to request specific component. Automata's purchasing department is interested in creating database to keep track of orders and to accelerate the process of delivering materials,

The order received by purchasing department can contain several different items . An inventory is maintained that is the most frequently requested item is inventory. If an item is not in inventory, it must be ordered from a supplier . Each item may have several suppliers.

1. Define entity and relathionships.
2. Draw the ER diagram with Chen diagram.
3. Draw the ER diagram with Crow Foot diagram.